Wills and Probate

DNA evidence is becoming a more popular means of resolving probate disputes.

Fueled by people leaving larger amounts of money in their wills and the numbers of relationships breaking up, complex probate disputes have risen sharply. DNA testing provides an excellent way of confirming family relationships and, at Cellmark, we have many years experience and expertise of dealing with such matters sensitively.

The screenshot shows the 'Wills and Probate' section of the Cellmark website. At the top, it says 'the Home of DNA testing the UK's most recommended DNA testing service'. The main heading is 'Wills & Probate'. Below this, there are several sections: 'What is DNA?', 'Taking a DNA sample', 'Results and Reports', 'Registering Online', 'Send an SMS', and 'Need some advice on DNA testing?'. Each section contains brief text and links. A navigation menu on the left includes 'About Cellmark', 'Our customers', 'DNA testing', 'Your questions answered', 'Other services', 'Contact us', 'Register a case online', 'My Cellmark', 'Check case progress', 'Privacy', and 'Bitemap'. At the bottom, it says '© 2008 Copyright Oxford Cellmark'.
